Why Engage with the On Demand Recording?

This webinar offers valuable learning for professionals across a wide range of roles and settings.

Participants' feedback suggests that the recording may be particularly useful for professionals who want to:

- Understand current developments and debates in attachment theory.
- Think more carefully about the use of attachment language in assessments, reports and professional discussions.
- Reflect on the risks of fixed or overconfident labels.
- Consider how attachment ideas can be applied in ways that are careful, relational and ethically aware.
- Support CPD, supervision, management discussions or team learning.

Engaging with the On Demand recording provides an opportunity to deepen understanding of attachment theory and its ethical application in professional practice.

The recording can be used for individual CPD or as the stimulus for supervision, a practice meeting or a facilitated team-learning session. CareKnowledge's accompanying resources can help teams move from watching the recording to discussing what the ideas mean for their own work.

The webinar's blend of academic rigour and practical relevance makes it an ideal resource for individual reflection or collaborative team discussions.
